Child Health Centre to Open Wednesday

Doctor, Nurse and Volunteers to Be on Duty From Two to Four P. M.

GROUPS CO-OPERATE

Narberth's Child Health Centre will be opened on Wednesday, January 15, in the Woman's Club Room, Elm Hall, from 2 to 4 P. M. It is under the general supervision of the Narberth Board of Health, and will be in charge of a doctor and a nurse from the Community Health and Civic Association at Ardmore, assisted by volunteer workers from the Woman's Community Club.

A committee consisting of Dr. George A. Sloan, chairman, president of the Board of Health; Mrs. William H. Newman, Mrs. Charles H. Shaw, Mrs. C. Arley Farmer and Mrs. Harry A. Jacobs, of the Woman's Community Club, and a member of the Community Health and Civic Association to be appointed later, will have charge of the arrangements.

The Child Health Centre, also known as the Baby Clinic, was made possible through the grant of $300 by Council to the Board of Health for this purpose. The Community Club was in large measure responsible for public sentiment in favor of it.

For the past year Narberth mothers who desired the services of the Health

Borough Officials Retain Offices at Organization Meeting on Monday.

FRYE DECRIES 'GANG'

With a complete assemblage of Borough officials and an audience of two gentlemen of the press, re-elected Councilmen Daniel Leitch, Robert Fellows Wood, Clarence Kaerber and John R. Hall were sworn into office as also was re-elected Burgess Henry A. Frye at the organization meeting of Narberth's governing body on Monday night.

Daniel Leitch was again chosen as president of Council. Mr. Leitch has completed four terms in Council covering a period of twelve years. Charles V. Noel was re-elected secretary of Council, a post he has held for many years, in addition to his job as Fire Chief. Walton M. Wentz was re-elected treasurer, Fletcher W. Stites, solicitor, and George B. Suplee, superintendent of Public Works.

In commenting upon the course of events during the past four years Burgess Henry A. Frye made the following remarks: "Since my taking office

Main Line Repertory Group Score Hit in 'The First Year,' Before Good Audience on Wednesday

A decided hit was scored by the Main Line Repertory Theatre in "The First Year," their third production of the season at the Woman's Club of Bala-Cynwyd on Wednesday night.

The audience, the largest at any of the performances this season, gave evidence of their appreciation of the excellent acting by breaking into spontaneous applause on several occasions.

The play, Frank Craven's comic tragedy of married life, provided numerous laughs, and ran off without a hitch.

The cast was excellent throughout. Ann Polk Speed's vivacious performance as the wife was of a high calibre, while Edward Field Shaw's as Thomas Tucker was equally good. George Fred Joly, III, made a charming if

Co. Federation of Women's Clubs to Meet at Glenside

The Montgomery County meeting of the Federated Women's Clubs of Pennsylvania will be held at Glenside on January 16, at 10:30 o'clock. The Glenside Woman's Club will be the hostess.

Mrs. Abram Bunn Ross, of Cynwyd, president of the Federation, has prepared an interesting and amusing program. A skit entitled "How One Bill Was Passed," in which about twenty-five women take part, will be given in the morning. There are four scenes in this sketch and Mrs. E. C. Batchelor, of Narberth, is directing its production.

In the afternoon beside the County Chorus a very prominent speaker is promised, a man every one wants to hear. It will be a source of great encouragement if every club woman in the county will make a special effort to attend this meeting.

Standard Oil Gets Favorable Decision From Board of Adjustment.

SITE BRINGS $30,000

The old order changeth. On the site of the blacksmith shop, located at Montgomery and Haverford Avenues, Narberth, where Lord Cornwallis once had his horse shod in Revolutionary times, a gas station will be erected.

The property of 100-foot frontage along Montgomery and the same on Haverford Avenues was sold by Mrs. Mary A. Fleming to the Standard Oil Company of Pennsylvania through the real estate office of Frank Zell, 1518 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

Permission to use the property, which is in a residential district, for the purpose of a gas station was granted Mrs. Fleming by the Narberth Board of Adjustment in August, 1927. The decision was based on the fact that the property had formerly been used for business purposes. A restriction was made, however, that no sale of automobile accessories, changing of oil, greasing or storage of cars should take place.

Appealing the decision, Mrs. Fleming took the case to the Court of Common Pleas at Norristown. An agreement was reached on the day the case came to trial in November, 1927, between her attorney, Theodore Lane Bean, and the Borough Solicitor, Fletcher W. Stites, which permitted her to include the sale of automobile accessories in the Board of Adjustment's decision.

Pennsy Builds Stairs to Narberth Ave. Bridge

Additional improvement to the Narberth station facilities was made by the Pennsylvania Railroad this week with the construction of stairs leading from the Narberth Avenue bridge to the north side platform. It is expected that they will be open for use within a few days. This means of entrance and exit to the station platform from the north side will save commuters many steps. The platform on the south side is also being widened. The moving of the tracks recently cut into the available room, but this is now being increased.

Hart to Speak

Sunday's meeting of All Saints' Church Fellowship will be featured by a talk on "The Purposes of Young People's Fellowships," by the Rev. Jack Hart, of the University of Pennsylvania. A cordial invitation is extended all young people to attend the meeting, which will be held in the Parish House of the Wynnewood church promptly at 6:20 P. M., this Sunday.

Is a Narberth Councilman out of a Job? New Law Perplexes

Is some member of Narberth Borough Council out of a job? This interesting possibility arose this week when a provision of the Act of Assembly of 1929 became known.

A reporter for a Philadelphia daily phoned a member of Council, informing him that according to law all boroughs should have but six Councilmen, instead of seven. Further, he said, the President of Council should be elected by the people and not by a vote of his fellow-members.

While members of Council were thinking the situation over and wondering who would be left out in the cold, the reporter called again, stating that he had been all wrong, and that the law applied to town government only. Another opinion was that it applied only to boroughs and towns who elect their Councilmen by wards. (Narberth selects its Councilmen at large.)

Inquiry at the office of Borough Solicitor Fletcher W. Stites did not clarify the situation. Mr. Stites states that so far as he has been able to find out there is no evidence that the law affects Narberth, whose government was not set up by act of Legislature. He is looking into the situation.

In the meantime a number of worried municipalities are looking to the State Attorney General for a ruling on the question. It appears that the new law was hidden away in the pages of the recently-distributed pamphlet of laws enacted by the last Legislature. Boroughs all over the State, however, had elected their usual number of Councilmen in November and had organized

Lions Best Boosters in Playoff For Title

In the playoff for the championship of the first half season of the Narberth Interchurch Bowling League on Monday night the Lions bested the Boosters in two out of three games and ran away with the title.

In the last regular match of the first half the Lions tied the Boosters, who had been leading previously, and making a playoff necessary between the two teams. A large number of rooters witnessed the deciding match Monday on the alleys of the Ardmore Recreation Club.

Some excellent scores were made during the first half. The six highest for three games in one match are as follows:

Name Team	1st	2nd	3rd	Tl.
Lacy, Colts	269	175	212	656
Ward, Boosters	235	160	231	626
Conley, Colts	220	236	143	599
Albert, Lions	180	216	200	596
Dickie, Pep Boys	211	214	168	593
Humphries, Lions	222	170	190	582

The four highest averages are as follows:
Lacy, Colts, 180.
Conley, Colts, 176.
Weiss, Lions, 174.
Ward, Boosters, 173.

English Language a 'Patchwork Quilt'

Mrs. David Patterson Gives Charming Talk Before Community Club.

RECITES SELECTIONS

"Do you remember the story of the pieces in the rag bag on a rainy day and how your mother told you about the beautiful materials and helped you sort them out and make a lovely color scheme and sew them into a patchwork quilt to hand down to your children's children?" asked Mrs. David Patterson, of Cynwyd, in her talk on "A Patchwork Quilt," before the members of the Woman's Community Club at the meeting on Tuesday.

The English language is like that, said Mrs. Patterson, a composite of other languages. Every race as they came into England left some of their language there, Romans, Teutons and Normans, so that some day in the near future it will be the universal language.

The abuse of this lovely language, the speaker pointed out, is occupying the minds of many thinkers and it has been said that the college student of today cannot write or speak good English. Clear enunciation and good speech consciousness is coming in America, first through the medium of the radio and secondly through the talking pictures. Teachers have been advised to make use of this fact. "Speech is God's greatest gift," said Mrs. Patterson, and she proved this by reciting three lovely numbers: James Whitcomb Riley's "Little Brook," Joyce Kilmer's "House With Nobody in It," and a scene from "Polly of the Circus" in a beautiful and expressive manner.

Letters of thanks and appreciation for the gifts to South Mountain and Narberth Hall at Crossnore and the many thoughtful gifts to others were enumerated by the Welfare Chairman, Mrs. Charles Shaw, who thanked all the members for their co-operation. A Class in House Furnishing and Decorating will soon be started by Mrs. Mills, chairman of Home Economics.

Wednesday and Thursday will see-hear Olive Borden in "Half Marriage," and an extra feature will be Godfrey Ludlow, WJZ violinist, in a "talkie"—or rather, "playee"—screen presentation.

Roast Beef Dinner and Card Party Are Planned For January 30-31.

SEEK TO RAISE $2500

Announcement was made this week of names of some of the Narberth women who will aid the Narberth Fire Company in paying for its hook and ladder truck. In an attempt to raise $2500 the women of Narberth will serve an old-fashioned supper Thursday January 30, at Elm Hall, and give a card party, cake sale and lecture the following day.

Mrs. Eberhardt Mueller is chairman in charge of the affair; Mrs. F. C. Egmore is secretary; Mrs. E. H. Cockrill is treasurer, and Mrs. Charles H. Shaw is publicity director.

In charge of the roast beef dinner to be given from 5 to 7 P. M., January 30 will be Mrs. E. H. Haws and Mrs. C. B. Carson.

Fortune telling will be done by Mrs. H. I. McConnell and Mrs. J. W. Darville.

A salmagundi table on the 31st will be in charge of Mrs. William M. Sibley and Mrs. G. F. Michaelson.

Cakes will be sold by Mrs. Stanley Heigh and Mrs. C. Arley Farmer.

Refreshments for the card party will be in charge of Mrs. Roy Williams.

Teams of women workers are being organized to canvass every home for aid for the event, in the belief that since every one in Narberth is protected by the Narberth Fire Company, everyone should help raise money for the hook and ladder—either by buying tickets for the events or making donations of cash or of salable goods.

In charge of district workers are

UNCLE CY'S COLUMN

The Last Word.

Our contentious friend, Jess A. Littlekiss, insists on having the last word, which I shall gladly grant him, but after that he must be doomed to silence for at least a month to make way for the thousands of eager correspondents who anxiously sit in the editor's office begging him to discharge me and accept them in my place.

Jess sent in two communications this time, one of which appears below. The other deals with the taxicab situation in Philadelphia, which your editor vetoes as beyond the scope of a suburban weekly. Send me your address, Jess, and I'll return the manuscript so that you may send it to Jay House or some other metropolitan colyumist.

Dear Uncle Cy:

I had just finished writing the other letter when along came the paper. And lo! my middle-aged friend fell recklessly into the trap which was laid for him. Columnists should have some acquaintance with literature. You remark pointedly, to the effect that in an earlier letter I must have been thinking of Alfred Lord Dickens, etc. I beg to point out that Charles Tennyson was an exquisite English poet whose fame would have been great had he not been overshadowed by his prominent brother, Alfred Lord Tennyson. This is a most elementary matter, my dear Uncle Cy; any high school teacher, even, is acquainted with it. And we of the intellectual class are cognizant of an even more generally unknown fact, to wit, that a third brother, Frederick Tennyson, was a poet of no mean ability himself.

The fact that Charles Tennyson, when he inherited from his grandfather, changed his name to Charles Tennyson Turner, should not have deceived you. You really should go to the root of a matter before you assume to correct others. You will find that Charles published five or six volumes of commendable verse, the first of these including some poems by his more distinguished brother.

The middle name is Artaigne. My middle name, I mean. As for our respective ancestors, mine were making jokes at a time when yours truly were merely being them.

I regret that I cannot give you my address and telephone number. I am far too busy to be bothered by the plaudits of the common people. I shall from time to time give you information of the state of the union, and recommend to your consideration such measures as I shall judge necessary and expedient.

Truly,

JESS A. LITTLEKISS.

Post Scriptum:—You need not necessarily print this. But some public confession of your egregious error is required.

P. P. S.:—Do you get paid as columnist? If so, you must owe me circa nineteen cents.

It is a shameful admission that you should have laid a trap for your "middle-aged friend." Why should columnists be better acquainted with literature? If I were more learned I should probably be a professor instead of writing for a country paper. There was once a Frenchman named Patrick O'Flaherty who applied to Father McDevitt for the job of janitor. This position required some clerical ability and Patrick was turned down because he could neither read nor write. He then became a bricklayer, then a master mason, and finally a very wealthy contractor. One day he was finishing a conference with his banker when the banker remarked: "You have been a great success, Patrick, think what you might have been if you'd only had a college education."

"Yiss," replied Patrick, "O'd 'ave been janitor of Father McDevitt's chuch today."

As to the ancestors, I see your father and mother had a very keen sense of humor and well substantiated your contention.

Please confine your recommendations to the Main Line or abstract columnar matter. We are too provincial to consider that nearby village of Philadelphia.

—By the People

In his remarks at the organization meeting of Council on Monday night, which unfortunately no citizens were present to hear, Burgess Henry A. Frye expounded his philosophy of local government.

Matters of routine will be cared for by Council as they arise. In the opinion of the Burgess, projects which involve the expenditure of large sums of the taxpayers' money should originate with the citizens themselves. If, as in the case of the street improvement campaign, strong public sentiment is created and the matter presented to Council, a bond issue can be raised and the project put across, as was the case with the streets. Council's function, as Mr. Frye put it, is "to push and not to pull."

There are still things many people would like to see done in the borough. The tunneling of Essex Avenue under the railroad has had its advocates in the past; nearly everybody wants a new railroad station (this depends upon the P. R. R., however), recreation facilities are still needed; a new grandstand on the playground would be appreciated by baseball fans and the Narberth Ball Club.

Initiative for these or other projects will have to come as a rule from the citizens. Council will lend attentive ears to any propositions which are for the betterment of the borough, but if they involve heavy expenditures, they must have a large measure of public support.

A Progressive Step

The opening of a Child Health Centre in the borough on Wednesday may be counted as one of the most forward-looking moves taken hereabouts recently.

While matters of health and hygiene are much more a part of public knowledge than they were a few years ago, constant advance on the part of science and medicine produces new methods and corrects old errors. As an educational unit, the Health Centre is likely to prove of great benefit.

The initiative for the Centre came largely from members of the Woman's Community Club and to them belongs the lion's share of the credit for putting the thing across. The borough Council helped the cause along by acceding to the request of the Board of Health for an appropriation. The Community Health and Civic Association of Ardmore, which conducts similar centres in Ardmore, Bryn Mawr, Oakmont and West Manayunk, lent valuable assistance in the work of organizing and will continue to help by supplying a nurse for each day the clinic is open.

To the Narberth Board of Health and its president, Dr. Sloan, and the club women who will act as volunteers, go our best wishes for the success of their project.

Leitch Re-elected Head of Borough Council

for the first time four years ago the personnel of Council has had remarkably few changes. Mr. Redifer, with more than a quarter of a century of faithful public service, has passed to his reward, and Mr. Griswold has undertaken a task for which he is particularly fitted. Their successors have closed up the gaps and, with vision at one end of the table, a rigid scrutiny of expenditure at the other, and a remarkable appreciation of duty all around, we look forward to at least two more years of work together.

"My predecessor sang a well-timed swan song of achievement and work passed on to us to finish. Our record in that respect has been written where he who runs may read—if he wants to. Instead of tabulating it, therefore, let us consider how we have accomplished it.

"We have had our natural differences of opinion, and I am inclined to believe that without them our sessions might at times have been boring. And such a condition is a healthy one as is shown by the readiness with which majority decision is carried out, even though the apparent unanimity exposes us to the charge of "gang" and "inner circle"—that we are all interested in keeping each other in perpetual succession in office.

"Other critics we have, too, but the most persistent are the three rows of

FORE AND AFT

In which the Main Line Repertory Theatre defines a Little Theatre. Some coming attractions in the city.

Many people are under the impression that a Little Theatre is a small box-like shanty where a few queer human beings pull off half-baked drama in shabby fashion. Others immediately connect it with the word "amateur," and consequently it means no more to them than high school Thespianism.

No doubt we have fulfilled these categories; such is the plight of our embryonic state and pinched pocket. We are gradually outgrowing these conditions, and it is our purpose to establish an artistic theatre on the Main Line.

The Little Theatre has made rapid progress during the last decade in keeping alive an interest in legitimate drama in towns and cities far removed from the regular theatrical circuit. Now with many of our best plays confined to Broadway, Little Theatres are filling the need in the principal cities of the country.

These theatres are little only in the size of the auditoriums. They are not for commercial profit, therefore their audience does not need to number over 500 at the most. In proportion, the stage occupies two-thirds of the building. This seems unusual, yet it proves at least that the stage is not small. These theatres might better be termed play shops for their staging equipment is most elaborate and it is built for the production of any type of play.

The modern Little Theatre is more able to serve its community than the professional stage. It is able to introduce works the commercial disadvantages of which could never induce a professional offering. It may define convention without incurring loss. It may revive plays which Broadway has long forgotten. Because it is convenient and inexpensive, it encourages theatre-going among people who ordinarily would not bother to go.

We believe the Main Line is due a Little Theatre. We have cleared the path. It remains only for the Main Line to make it a reality.

A thirteen-month year would never do. There would be a Friday the thirteenth every month and once every year there would be a Friday the thirteenth in the thirteenth month.

empty seats which are generally attendant upon our efforts.

"The new Borough Act and the Manual of Council provide us with the necessary technique for our work. Aside from them what reason can we give for our acts? Should we go far afield from routine on our own initiative, or should we await a demand from our fellow citizens for specific action?

"The history of two acts of this body will illustrate. The reorganization of our highway and police departments has come about from necessity appearing in the conduct of routine matters—details in which the citizens generally are not particularly interested. On the other hand, public improvements for which bond issues are required should ordinarily come from the people because it has been a common experience that unless such a matter has been initiated outside of Council, the chances of passage are doubtful. In other words our work will be most responsive to the wishes of the people if we help push rather than try to pull.

"In conclusion I bespeak your continued co-operation and look forward with you to new opportunities of service."

New Substations Planned for Main Line Division

"Two new substations will be built in the Main Line Division and one in the Eastern Division," declared William H. Taylor, president of the Philadelphia Electric Company, in enumerating construction and expansion activities scheduled by the utility company for Philadelphia and the suburban area during 1930.

"The company has budgeted for 1930 $26,400,000 to increase plant capacities, provide new equipment and to improve and extend service to its 750,000 customers. Many hundreds of items are involved in the budget of construction and practically every section of the large territory served either with gas or electricity, or both, will be benefited.

"The numerous users of gas for all purposes in the suburban area are cared for in the budget."

Jeddo-Highland Buckwheat has the four qualities so necessary to the successful operation of Stokers and Blowers. They are:

1. LOW ASH
2. CLEAN PREPARATION
3. UNIFORM SIZING
4. HIGH FUSION POINT

The use of Jeddo-Highland Buckwheat, with its clean preparation and uniform sizing, will mean less frequent change of air regulation. Its small ash content will mean less ash to handle, and its high fusion point will practically remove the possibility of clinkering.

List Lower Prices On New Chevrolet

Models for 1930 Are Placed on
room.

Announcement was made last week of substantially reduced prices on the new 1930 Chevrolet Six, at the same time that the car embodying many distinct improvements made its public bow. The new models are now on view at the Kirsch Chevrolet Company, 208 Bala Avenue, Bala-Cynwyd, dealers for Bala-Cynwyd and Narberth.

Reductions as announced by W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, range from $25 to $50 on seven of the twelve models in the 1930 line, while three new body types introduced for the first time this year are priced to parallel the new low figure on models retained in the current series. The present base price of $495 brings the six-cylinder Chevrolet to within $5 of the lowest price at which even the four-cylinder Chevrolet was ever sold.

This is made possible, Mr. Knudsen explained, because 1929 was Chevrolet's greatest year, with an output of 1,350,000 sixes. Economies of precision manufacturing, plus savings effected by quantity purchase of raw materials, brought about lowered production costs, which, consistent with the Chevrolet policy, are now being passed on to the consuming public.

The new range is from $365 for the light delivery chassis to $675 for the sedan, as against 1929 prices of $400 for the light delivery chassis to $725 for the convertible landau. All prices are f. o. b. the factory, at Flint, Mich.

In making public Chevrolet's plans for 1930, the company's president and general manager declared that with the improvements incorporated in the new car, Chevrolet is anticipating a volume of business that will equal, if not surpass, the phenomenal record of 1929. And, in order to accommodate an early demand, production is being speeded with all the haste consistent with the Chevrolet precision methods.

New car shipments have been going out to dealers for the past two weeks, with deliveries to owners scheduled for this week. The cars went on display last Saturday morning in thousands of Chevrolet showrooms from coast to coast, while at the same time the announcement of the new car was being broadcast through the advertising columns of more than 6500 newspapers.

Scores of distinct improvements have been made in the 1930 Chevrolet line, the factory announces. Greater beauty, added safety factors, improved riding comfort and better all-round performance with added power, and faster acceleration are announced as features of the new line.

Larger tires, small wheels, Delco-Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers at all four wheels, Fisher slanting non-glare VV windshield and vastly improved four-wheel braking system are some of the highlights.

Brakes are of the internal expanding "articulated shoe type" both front and rear, those on the front wheels having two shoes while those on the rear have four. These brakes, also, are fully enclosed giving perfect protection against water and dirt. Tests at the General Motors Proving Ground show that the new brake will stop a car traveling thirty miles per hour in two and two-tenths seconds within forty-eight feet.

The attractive new closed bodies, in a variety of colors, carry the famous Fisher stamp of craftsmanship. Eight models, three of which are new to Chevrolet, comprise the line. Of the eight, five are closed and three are open. The closed cars are the sedan, coach, coupe, sport coupe and club sedan. The open models are the roadster, sport roadster and phaeton. The models new to the line this year are the sport coupe, sport roadster and club sedan.

The six-cylinder valve-in-head introduced a year ago, after four years of research and development, has been further improved and refined. Since the introduction of the six a year ago test cars have run up more than a million miles of driving at the General Motors Proving Ground in the working out and the justifying of the improvements found in the 1930 car.

Good cooking may be a fine art, and good cooks "to the manner born." But with a book of recipes and a modern Gas Range, one needn't be a skilled chef to bake and roast to the admiration (and appreciation) of the whole family.

Modern cookery doesn't call for a "dash" of this, "a pinch" of that, "season to taste" and "bake until done." Ingredients are now measured out according to recipe with accurate utensils. And with Oven Heat Control, HEAT becomes the final ingredient.

St. Matthias' Rector Buried Yesterday

Services for the Rev. McCabe,
Who Died Sunday, Held
At His Church.

F A M E D I N D I O C E S E

Funeral services were held yesterday at St. Matthias' Church, Bryn Mawr Avenue, Bala, for its rector, the Rev. Dr. Luke V. McCabe, who died on Sunday. Father McCabe had been at St. Matthias' for the past ten years and was one of the most widely-known priests in the Archdiocese of Philadelphia. He was also the oldest in point of service in the diocese.

Divine office was sung at 9:30 A. M. and Solemn Pontifical Mass of Requiem was celebrated at 10 A. M. Burial took place in the church grounds.

Despite his nearly eighty-four years, Father McCabe was active in the work of the parish. He was taken ill on Saturday night and death, ascribed to heart disease, came Sunday morning.

For thirty-two years Father McCabe was a member of the faculty of St. Charles' Seminary, Overbrook, and in that capacity was the instructor of many of the clergy of the Archdiocese. He served as professor of theology, Sacred Scripture and Canon Law.

Modest by nature, he deprecated the title of "doctor," although his scholarship had been recognized and the degrees of Doctor of Divinity and Doctor of Laws had been conferred upon him.

Father McCabe was born in Virginia, County Cavan, Ireland, May 7, 1846, and made his early studies under a private tutor. At the age of 18 he came to this country and entered the seminary, then at Eighteenth and Race Streets.

On April 5, 1869, although still under the required age but within the dispensing power of the ordinary, he was ordained by Bishop Wood in the Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul.

The following September he resumed teaching at the seminary. Later he served for a short time as assistant at the Church of St. Francis Xavier and then he was appointed rector of Coatesville and surrounding missions. While there a church was built under his guidance.

In April, 1917, Father McCabe relinquished his pastorate and was appointed assistant at St. Patrick's Church, Philadelphia. Two years later he was named rector of St. Matthias' Church and served in that capacity until his death.

Father McCabe celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood in 1919. The celebration was in charge of a committee of distinguished clergy of the Archdiocese.

He is survived by two sisters, Margaret and Mary McCabe, both of Bala.

A Texas newspaper records that Alex Shott and John Nott fought a pistol duel, in which, curiously enough, Nott was shot and Shott was not. In other words, the shot Shott shot shot Nott.

Mystery of Lettered 1930 Automobile License Plates Explained by Official of Motor Club

Now that the new Pennsylvania automobile license plates are flashing their cross-word puzzles in the eyes of a dazed and wondering public, the question most frequently heard is, "What's it all about?" The answers include a variety as great as the statistical deluge that greeted the query, some years ago, of "How Old Is Ann?"

In response to numerous inquiries, the Keystone Automobile Club attempts to elucidate. Clark W. Smitheman, editor of Keystone Motorist, who has a flair for figures, was assigned to the task of solving the puzzle.

"To begin at the beginning," says Mr. Smitheman, "it was really the scarcity of small number tags that brought about this revolution in Ben Eynon's system. With the increase in registrations, the tags began to become elongated into what began to be called billboards. The fact that some figures will be letters only adds interest to the system.

"It all sounds easy—and it is. So easy that a 53-page mimeographed pamphlet has been published to explain it!

"The 1930 tags begin with 1 as usual. From that up to 99,999 there will be no discernible difference in the appearance, weight quality or durability of the tags.

"Then starts the modernesque method. Instead of using 100,000 for the next tag, which has six figures in it, A1 is used.

"The A tags continue in orderly procession until A9,999 is reached. At that point something must be done.

"What to do—what to do? Use the next letter of the alphabet, of course. What is the next letter—oh, yes, B. Then the tag, which under the arabic or sheik system of numbering would have been 110,000, becomes, under the Eynon or ex-sheik system, B1.

"Is all that clear?

"Then follow us—you don't know where you're at before we get through—and probably we won't either.

"C1 stands for 120,000 and D1 130,000 and so down the alphabet using twenty of the twenty-six letters. The letters omitted are I, O, Q, T, W and X.

"I is omitted because of modesty—no self-respecting automobile would use the first person—or perhaps because I looks like 1. O (oh) is omitted because it looks like 0 (nothing).

and Q is canned because it resembles macaroni.

"T is reserved for trucks and X is for dealers. XXXX is, of course, for sugar.

"Having exhausted the possibilities of one letter and four figures the Eynonite system turns to one number-one letter-three number combinations, such as 6A768. Then to two number-one letter-two number tags, such as 45B38. Then to three number-one letter-one number combination, as 943G1—then to four number-one letter tags (2468A). You see how it goes? Then go home and try it on your piano.

"Things have now reached an impasse you may argue, if you know what impasse means. We have used all the letters and all the numbers in rotation and have accounted for a million tags. What to do for the second million?

"But silence. We have an ace in the hole. Now we start with TWO letters and THREE numbers. And right here is where it gets interesting; think of tags reading DD666 and MA231. But the end is not yet. Rapidly and in succession we use up all possible combinations of letters and figures in the 2:3 ratio and come to the end of a perfect day after another half million tags have been struck off and start in all over again with one number-two letters-two numbers. This will give us tags such as 0LAV4 and 1BZ67.

"After one-two-two comes two-two-one or two numbers-two letters-one number. Then three numbers and two letters leading us to such tags as 123YA and by the time we have reached 999FZ the State Highway Department has become tired of figuring and the possible combinations have reached the grand total of 2,419,999 which is as high as the registrations will go next year, anyhow."

Gas Station to Be Erected on Old Forge Site, Narberth

There the case rested and no more was heard of it until the recent sale was effected.

After the sale of the property by Mrs. Fleming to the Standard Oil, the Borough's Board of Adjustment was petitioned by the law office of John R. K. Scott, representing the oil company to allow them to erect a filling station and to remove the restrictions upon the changing of oil and the greasing of cars. The Board of Adjustment, being already committed by its previous action to the erection of a gas station on this corner, granted the additional privileges requested.

The Board's decision was transmitted to William H. Fretz, chairman of the Building Committee of Council, in the following terms: "At a special meeting of the Board of Adjustment of Zoning, Borough of Narberth, held in Elm Hall, Monday evening, December 23, 1929, it was unanimously agreed that permission be granted to the Standard Oil Company of Pennsylvania to use property located at intersection of Montgomery and Haverford Avenues, extending 100 feet westwardly along Montgomery Avenue and 100 feet westwardly along Haverford Avenue from said intersection, permitting the erection of a gasoline and oil station for the selling therefrom of gasoline and oil, and the changing of oil and the greasing of automobiles and the selling of emergency automobile accessories; providing that no other goods be sold and that said premises are not to be used for the storage of automobiles nor any other business that is ordinarily done in and about a garage; and providing further that said business be faced on Montgomery Avenue and that all business be set back at least twenty feet from the curb lines of Montgomery and Haverford Avenues, and that the curb at the intersection be constructed with a radius of at least twenty feet."

Following the issuance of this decision, a building permit was granted by George Suplee, Superintendent of Public Works, on December 24, to the Standard Oil Company for the construction of the filling station. According to the permit, it will cost $5000. The Borough received a fee of five dollars on the permit.

Centre for their babies were transported to the Ardmore Clinic by Community Club members, following the discontinuance of free transportation service by the Main Line Branch of the Red Cross.

In commenting on the opening of the Centre, Mrs. Harry A. Jacobs, a member of the committee in charge, said: "The object of the Centre is to keep well babies well. All children of pre-school age are eligible. It is not the purpose of the Centre to usurp the family medical counsel, nor is it done as charity, although it is without cost to the parent. Here the well-informed mother may find aid for the little problems continually cropping up in the child's welfare. The object of the Centre is more for its educational value than for medical treatment."

The whole-hearted support of the Community Health and Civic Association, which operates four other similar Centres, will be given the project. Their visiting nurse will be present every Wednesday.

The services of a baby specialist have been secured through Dr. Sloan, who will lend his personal assistance and the support of the Board of Health to the new Centre.

Meetings of the committee in charge will be held on the first Tuesday of each month at 7:30 in the Woman's Club Room.

MRS. JOSEPHINE LAFORE

The funeral of Josephine Dibell Lafore, widow of John E. Lafore, former president of the French Benevolent Society of Philadelphia before his death four years ago, was conducted today from the home of a son, John A. Lafore, Flat Rock Road, Narberth. Interment was private.

Mrs. Lafore, 86, died Tuesday. She is survived by three sons, William J. T. Jules and John Lafore, the latter vice president of the Lang Company, paper manufacturers, Land Title Building, and a daughter, Miss Mabel A. Lafore. Her husband, an importer, who retired ten years before his death, was decorated by the French Government during the World War for his assistance to the French people.

New Act of Assembly Causes Furore in Borough

in the usual way Monday night.

While the authorities do not think the newly discovered law will affect Narberth, they are debating as to the procedure necessary to square things up if by any chance the borough government is out of step.

The Councilmen elected in November were Daniel Leitch, Clarence Kaeber, Robert F. Wood and John R. Hall. Opinions of laymen on methods of eliminating the extra man vary. One man proposed drawing lots, with the Councilman drawing the "black spot" to resign. Another suggested a four-handed poker game—low man to go out.

More serious opinions are that the Councilmen in question would have to resign, leaving it up to the county Courts to appoint a temporary Council until the next regular election.

Narberth Councilmen, who serve without remuneration, are not losing sleep over the matter. While Bucks County towns are all excited, no one in Narberth seems to take the matter very seriously. At least, whether or not the ruling applies to Narberth, no immediate action is seen.
